

Connection in a Time of Crisis: Hebrew U. Stands with Ukraine

Tikkun Olam - “Healing the World”

It’s a Hebrew phrase that has become synonymous with social action and social justice. ‘Tikkun Olam’ is a moral imperative for every person to contribute towards improving their community and the world. It is a value that is integral to the mission of the Hebrew University.

This is the time for Tikkun Olam. We must step up – particularly when lives are at stake. We are profoundly dismayed by Russia’s brutal military invasion of Ukraine. Our hearts are with all who have been harmed, have lost family and friends and/or remain at risk.

Considering the threat to lives of academics in the Ukraine, in solidarity, the Hebrew University is offering:

- Immediate financial, emotional, and academic support to HU students of Ukrainian origin.
- To host Ukrainian academic faculty members and researchers for up to four months.
- To allow MA and PhD students at Ukrainian institutes of higher learning to continue their research at the Hebrew University for up to four months.

To enable Ukrainian residents pursuing undergraduate degrees to enroll in our English-language courses.

“We at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem are deeply troubled by the crisis unfolding in Ukraine and send a message of support and strength to the people of Ukraine. Our heart is with the Ukrainian people.”

HU President Professor Asher Cohen
